

A democracy is best served when many voices speak, sharing ideas and criticisms. Also, I have witnessed first-hand the diminution of local coverage as a result of the relaxing of ownership rules for radio. Broadcast television remains the most powerful communication medium. To empower our democracy and to prevent the similar diminution of local programs from television, I strongly oppose the relaxing of ownership rules.